ABSTRACT

In spring 1996, California's College of the Canyons conducted a survey of currently enrolled students to determine their satisfaction with college services. A total of 608 surveys were distributed to 23 faculty members, requesting that they administer the survey during regular class time, with 22 faculty actually administering the questionnaire. Study findings, based on responses from 336 students, included the following: (1) 57.3% of the sample were between the ages of 18 and 24, compared to 52.6% of all students, and 61.3% were female, compared to 57.3% of all students; (2) 83.6% of respondents agreed that the quality of instruction was excellent; (3) 63.9% thought that there was a good variety of courses in their major, while 82.7% thought that there was a good variety of general education courses; (4) 82.4% agreed that faculty's syllabi delineated the subject matter to be covered in courses; (5) over half of the respondents indicated that they had never heard of the college's Cooperative Work Experience Education program and School-to-Career Internship/Job Shadowing program; (6) respondents indicated that they were most likely to enroll in classes that meet in the morning, on weekdays, and last 18 weeks. The student survey and cover memos are included. (AJL)

RE: Student Survey for Accreditation

The data was gathered during this Spring semester of 1996. The survey questions were developed by the Standard Co-Chairs along with their committees and turned in to the Office of Institutional Development by April 17th. After some re-drafting of the questions, copies of the completed survey were placed in the mailboxes of 23 selected faculty members on Monday, April 29th

To save on postage costs and to ensure a higher response rate, the surveys were administered in classes by instructors during normal class times. A cover memo, with instructions for the administration of the surveys, accompanied the surveys and requested that faculty administer the survey on Wednesday May 1st. The memo was signed by the Vice President of Instruction and Student Services, Carter Doran, and the President of the Academic Senate, Michael Dermody. See the memo attached.

Envelopes containing the surveys and cover memo were delivered to instructors by campus mailboxes. Completed questionnaires were returned to the Office of Institutional Development where data entry and data analysis, using SPSS for Windows software, was carried out.

Sample

A sample was sought that would be representative of the student body along major demographic variables. A representative sample can be obtained by selecting specific classes which replicate the demographics of these variables in the overall student body. The Computer Center ran a list of all classes offered at 10:00 a.m. and 7:00 p.m. on Wednesday. Classes were selected which provided us with a sample close to the student population along the lines of ethnicity, gender and age.

Response Rate

A total of 22 of the 23 faculty administered the survey to their classes, for a class response rate of 95.7 percent. The student response rate was also calculated according to the total number of surveys returned (336) in relation to the total number of questionnaires given to instructors for classroom administration (608). In this case, the student response rate was 55.3 percent. Class absences could have accounted for this lower student response rate.

Representativeness

An important reason for carefully selecting a sample is so that the results can be generalized to the larger population. How closely does the sample represent the population along important aggregate characteristics? In the following table, ethnicity, age and gender are compared between the sample and the Spring 1996 student population.

Table 1.
Representativeness of the Sample
Spring 1996

Age Groups	Student Population	Sample	Difference
18 - 24 years of age	52.6%	57.3%	+ 4.7%
Other ages	47.4%	42.7%	- 4.7%

---

Sex

Female	57.3%	61.3%	+ 4.0%
Male	42.7%	38.7%	- 4.0%

---

Ethnicity

White	65.6%	63.0%	- 2.6%
Non-White	34.4%	37.0%	+ 2.6%

---

As shown, ethnicity is accurately represented in the sample. However, the sample contains a slightly higher proportion of female (+ 4.0%) and traditionally-aged college students (+ 4.7%). Since there is less than five percent difference between the population and the sample along these two variables, the differences do not appear to have had an impact on the results.

Results

The results of the survey are presented on the attached survey form.

Follow-Up
